

The First International Program Global World Communicator Education and Science

The International Council of Scientists (ICS)

the worldwide organization of personalities of the highest qualification in the area of education and science.

The International Council of Scientists (ICS) in program «Global World Communicator (GWC). Education and Science» is a non-governmental, long-term, strategic organisation encompassing scientists members from across the world.

It is the organisation of personalities of the highest qualification, having their own opinion on further development of education and science, technological and humanitarian progress.

The main goal of the International Council of Scientists (ICS) is to attract professors and scientists from different countries to:

- develop criteria and reliable methods for evaluating higher educational institutions;
- develop criteria and reliable methods for evaluating research activity of universities and research centres;
- carrying out assessments for assigning ratings to higher educational institutions by highest qualification experts.

Development of common criteria will be useful for universities, colleges, scientific centres, etc. too.

Objectivity and reliability of criteria and evaluations is determined by:

- participation of experts of the higher qualification in the field of education and science, having extensive experience in these areas;
- confidentiality of Council ICS members, making it impossible to promote interests of any groups, etc.
- extensive number of participants from different countries;
- freedom in individual decision-making of members of the Council ICS;
- a method of determining the outcome of discussions and assessments as the most recognized by members of the Council ICS.

Activity of the Council:

- involvement of highly qualified specialists into activities of the Council ICS, who are capable of contributing to achievement of objectives set above;
- participation in discussions and surveys within the context of online conferences on the projects and problems posed by the Council ICS and by the proposal of its members.

Council ICS activities carried out remotely.

Working language of the Council ICS: English.
